Carlton South OSHC TERM 1 Week 4

Another week went by at Carlton South and it was a great one!

The kindergarten program saw a good mix of quiet and more active time again: origami, bracelet making, parachute game and other physical activities. The kindergarten children seem to be more and more comfortable and it's great to see them interact with their peers a little more every day.

The older children spent two days in the allotment area playing capture the flag and other games and look forward to starting their program at the hub next week.

A lot of children loved having the ping pong table out and made great use of it.

The cooking programs involved one afternoon of food preparation for Tuesday's afternoon tea (fried rice) on Monday and children made healthy energy balls on Wednesday. There was some hesitation on their part at first with the energy balls but they turned out great and they tasted delicious.

Science was also a big hit with a lot of children getting involved in trying to make a container capable of protecting a water balloon as it fell from 3 meters, almost half of the children participated!

Other programs included Chinese craft (kites), friendship bracelets, gardening, tennis and our intergenerational project for Chinese New Year. We will finish this project next week, amongst other exciting activities and we look forward to seeing the children again on Monday.
